1. Assume that you have been invited to consult a mid-sized company which has suffered from being unprofitable for three consecutive years. From a resource-based view (RBV),
   a. What would you suggest that the manager(s) of the company do, and why could doing this help the company to become profitable again?
   b. Are there some circumstances (or reasons for unprofitability) in which doing this would not help the company to become profitable again? Provide the reasons for your answer.

2. Assume that you have been invited to consult another mid-sized company which is unsure about its performance. The management of the company asks you to build a portfolio of performance measures with which the management could monitor the performance of the company in the future.
   a. What performance measures would you suggest to be included in the portfolio and why?
   b. The management asks whether you can name one of these performance measures the "master" measure (i.e. the most important one). Can you name such a "master" measure – and if yes or no, why?

3. Assume that you have been invited to consult yet another mid-sized company which is thinking about entering into a new industry (i.e. adding a new industry in addition to the ones in which it already operates). According to your advice, what should the management of the company take into account (study/evaluate) – and why – before making the decision to enter or not to enter?

4. Assume that you have been invited to consult yet another mid-sized company. The management of the company has read news stories about business ethics being "in fashion", and they want to know whether or not they too should take ethics into account in their business decisions. Would you recommend for or against such ethical considerations and what reasons would you give in support of your recommendation?
